

A New Freedom
Romans 7:1-13

Dr. Bill Wilks
October 25, 2015

For some peculiar reason carnal human nature is prone to extremism. People have a tendency to vacillate between one extreme to another.

Carnal spirituality tends to fluctuate between extreme liberalism and extreme legalism. Both extremes are spiritually destructive.

In today's study, we will learn that genuine believers experience a true freedom in Christ that liberates us from the bondage of legalism.

LEARNING FROM GOD'S WORD . . .

➔ Genuine believers are set _____ from the letter of the law so that we can _____ the leadership of the Spirit.

1. The _____ of your release from the law (v. 1-4a).

Rm. 6:3-7; Gal 2:19-20

2. The _____ of your release from the law (v. 4b-6).

○ So that you may _____ to Christ (v. 4b).

○ So that you may _____ fruit for God (v. 4c).

○ So that you may _____ serving in the Spirit (v. 5-6).

Col. 2:6-7; 16-17; 20-23; Gal. 5:16, 18, 22-24

3. The _____ for your release from the law (v. 7-13).

Gal. 3:10, 21-22; 4:4-7

RESPONDING TO GOD'S WORD . . .

✓ Do you _____ try to win God's approval by works?

✓ Do you _____ distant from God because of guilt?

✓ Do you _____ "no" to God often for fear you will fail?